WALTER G. MELVER

DEDICATION

The ARROW staff is proud to dedicate this edition to Walter G. Melver, assistant professor of voice, at Lycoming College. A Westminster graduate, Mr. Melver, has not confined his interests to the building of a superb musical Lycoming, but in every respect—as friend, teacher, and consultant—he has spent tireless hours in helping to build a college of which all graduates can be justly proud. Long after other college memories have become obscured, the memory of this tall, sincere man will remain.

ADMINISTRATION

President's Message

Students of Lycoming College:

You have done me the honor to ask for a brief message for the 1951 ARROW. I appreciate this request as it gives me an opportunity which I am glad to use. In deciding what to write without repeating what has been said in more than a score of previous "messages" I have naturally been giving the matter considerable thought.

A comparison between Dickinson Seminary of 1921 and Lycoming College of 1951 could be made which would show the growth of the college, and it would also illustrate the increasing general interest in higher education.

The social customs as reflected in a comparison of student social activities of 1921 and 1951 would be interesting to many.

The enlarged and beautiful campus, new buildings, larger faculty, modern laboratory and other facilities could furnish material for several messages.

The unsettled times in which we live and the conflict of ideologies on a world scale and their effect on young people and their future could be explored at great length.

Instead of any of these I am going to quote an old Latin proverb: Carpe diem. Grasp the opportunity might be a free translation of the meaning I have in mind.

There have always been growth, change, advancement. They are taking place today on a larger scale and at a more rapidly accelerated pace than at any previous time in history.

Changes and progress at Lycoming reflect in miniature some of the things happening on a world scale.

As students let me urge you to be a part of the worthwhile things happening around you.

Seize the opportunity. Carpe diem! Embrace the day—your day—the greatest of all days when a new world is struggling to be born.

Very sincerely your friend,

This volume is the third to carry the message of Lycoming College. Next year the ARROW will tell the story of the first class admitted to Lycoming under its present four-year degree-granting history. This volume of the ARROW is, therefore, the connecting link between the present and the past represented by time-honored Dickinson Seminary, so justly beloved by thousands who now hail Lycoming as their Alma Mater. None of us should ever forget, or in any way belittle, these earlier years during which the Seminary laid the seeds that brought, from the college to which her graduates went, the early recognition and accreditation in which we all now take justifiable pride.

Our present position, where we enjoy the confidence of our sister institutions, places a real obligation on us all, students, alumni, and faculty, to keep the flame burning brightly and the torch held high, in order that what ground has been gained may not be lost, and that our future may be worthy of our past.

DONALD J. FELIX

In Memoriam

The ARROW STAFF joins the faculty, student body, and friends in mourning the untimely loss of DONALD J. FELIX, Dean of Men. Those of us who were privileged to know Dean Felix will long remember his vital personality and his devotion to the many tasks he was called upon to perform.

From the beginning, his career at Lycoming College was an instructive and guiding one. As physical director, in which capacity Dean Felix joined the faculty, he crowded his college career with new interests, new associations, and new activities, not the least of which was the innovation of swimming teams and the enlargement of intra-mural basketball.

Because of his keen interest in the problems of individual students he was the natural choice for Dean of Men, and was appointed to this exacting and important position in 1948. To those who sought his counsel, he was always sympathetic, enthusiastic, and willing.

Lycoming College will ever be grateful to Dean Felix who throughout his four years gave us devoted service. We miss him as a teacher—we mourn him as a friend.

Student Government Association

An active organization on the campus this year was the Student Government Association, a student planning group organized in 1946 with the purpose of representing the student body in various college projects throughout the year. A new constitution was adopted by the Association after ratification by the entire student body.

Members of the Association included five elected officers, the four class presidents, and presidents of active college groups. Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, Dean of Women, and Mr. G. Heil Gramley, Dean of Men, acted as advisers to the Association.

This year, the Student Government Association supervised the class elections, helped with the annual Homecoming events in October, assisted the faculty and alumni with the Greater Lyeoming Banquet in February, and sponsored the graduation dance in May.

Officers for the 1950-51 term were: Thomas Carl, president; William Levegood, first vice president; Hatton Zimmerman, second vice president; Marcella Hiller, secretary and Craig Kane, treasurer.

Inter-Fraternity Council

Since its organization in 1948, the Inter-Fraternity Council has been acting as the governing body for all the fraternities on the campus of Lycoming College. All matters concerning a closer relationship between the fraternities are cleared through this council.

For the 1950-51 term, the council set up rules regulating the functions of the fraternities and established principles necessary to fraternity work. The council also scheduled and arranged for the Annual Greek Letter Ball.

The purpose of the Inter-Fraternity Council is to bring the various fraternities into a common union of cooperation and to promote a benevolent spirit among the fraternities.

The delegates elected were: Gordon L. Allison, president; Alan Oehrig, vice president; and Scott Wilhelm, secretary-treasurer. Oliver L. Harris, associate professor of psychology, acted as the faculty adviser.

Standing: Barletta, Benson, Cendoma, Stewart, Robbins, Peake, Sabin.

Men's Dormitory Council

The Men's Dormitory Council of Evcoming College was first organized in February, 1949, under the advisorship of Dean of Men, Donald J. Felix. It was named The Student Council at that time, but in September, 1950, under the adviser ship of Dean of Men, G. Heil Gramley, it was called The Men's Dormitory Council.

This group, functioning under the direction of the Faculty Council and Dr. John W. Long, College President, is the governing body of the Men's Dormitory Association.

Its main purpose is to regulate student life in the dormitories in order that proper conditions for study and living may exist. It is made up of student representatives from the men's dormitories.

Officers elected for the 1950-51 term were: John Barnard, president; Ronald Crain, vice president; and Richard McCormack, secretary.

Women's Dayroom Council

The purpose of the Dayroom Council, under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, Dean of Women, was to bring the women day students together into a co-operative group and to encourage school spirit.

On the basis of class and scholarship, the following officers were elected: Joanne Krimm, president; Eleanor Miller, vice president; Marlene Caris, secretary; Gertrude Peters, treasurer; and Anna J. Kuhns, freshman representative. Their principal duty was to serve as a general intermediary body between the college administration and the women day students.

Two holiday teas highlighted the social events of the year under the sponsorship of the Social Committee, Frances Toohey, chairman. The first was a Christmas tea given for all women students and women faculty members. This was given in co-operation with the boarding girls. The other was a Valentine Day party to which all women students were invited.

It is the hope of the day women that in the future their activities will be considered a real asset to the college, not only in matters pertaining to social life but also in matters of scholarship and school spirit.

Seated: Krimm. Standing,
Miller, Kuhns.

Women's Dormitory Association

Under the leadership of its officers and the guidance of Mrs. Howard Miller, Dean of Women, the Women's Student Government Association of the Dormitory enjoyed a busy and pleasant year.

House meetings were held every Monday evening, at which time problems and coming events were discussed. Officers were elected at one of the first meetings and those chosen were: Marilyn Simmons, president; Ruth Wiechardt, vice president; Margaret Mitchell, secretary; Sara Mae Livingston, treasurer; and Barbara Baker, freshman representative. Gay Wardner was appointed as acting social chairman.

There was a social activity each month of the school year. The first highlight of the year was the Hallowe'en party; before Thanksgiving a tea was sponsored for the faculty and friends. December witnessed a Christmas tea which was followed by a Christmas party; while the highlight of the second semester was the Mother's Day Tea.

Through the Women's Dormitory Association, the women, numbering about fifty, became a closely knit group enjoying a friendly year in a family like atmosphere.

Junior Class History

The Junior Class showed its eagerness to continue its record of vigorous participation in school activities by conducting one of the most spirited election campaigns on campus. After re-elections, necessitated by a tie, the following officers were chosen: Douglas McWilliams, president; Cay Wardner, vice president; Nancy Hall, secretary; and Tom Brennan, treasurer.

A big event for the class was participating in the presentation of "The Good Old Days," a musical show written by Richard Wolf, publicity director of the school. The Juniors were co sponsors with the Senior Class, contributing members to the cast as well as helping to produce the show.

Members participated in every club and activity on campus, proving again that the "pioneers" of Lycoming were a hard-working, progressive class.

Sophomore Class History

Despite the fact that the enrollment of the sophomore class has decreased considerably since last year, enthusiasm and willingness to co-operate has been their motto.

After a vigorous campaign, and voting twice for two of the candidates who were tied, the officers elected were: Earl Mensch, president; Ronald Moore, vice president, Margaret Mitchell, secretary; and John Cruickshank, treasurer.

The Sophomore class entered whole-heartedly into the activities of the college. Don Mosher was one of the Lycoming Warriors' outstanding men on the varsity basketball team. Virginia Totten was elected social chairman of the Women's Athletic Association. Officers of the various clubs were: Judy Cohen, treasurer of the Psychology Club; Virginia Totten, secretary of the Psychology Club; and Sara Mae Livingston, refreshment chairman of S. C. A. A number of the sophomores were also members of the Lycoming Singers and the A Cappella Choir.

Freshman Class History

The Freshman Class began its first year at Lycoming College on September 18, 1950. The first week was a busy one spent on tests, parties, tours of Williamsport, and general orientation.

Instead of having elections the first semester, class officers were appointed by members of the faculty. Those chosen to lead the class were: Jay Stenger and Anna Jean Kuhns, co-Presidents, and Nancy Hill, Secretary-Treasurer. Barbara Baker was elected as Freshman Representative of the Girls' Dormitory Council.

Members of the class entered enthusiastically into various activities on the campus. Patty Moore and Joanne Baumunk were selected as cheerleaders, and the class was well represented on the gridiron and basketball court.

When the nominations for Homecoming Queen were made, Kitty Martin, Joanne Baumunk, and Ruth Fairstein were chosen to represent Lambda Phi Delta, Zeta Tau Beta, and Zeta Delta Kappa, respectively. Kitty Martin was selected as one of the queen's attendants on the day of the finals.

The Arrow

The Staff of the 1951 Arrow, under the guidance of Mrs. Eloise B. Mallinson, faculty adviser, started under a handicap by the fact that it was late October before the choosing of staff members was completed. But, as soon as this was accomplished, everyone enthusiastically threw himself into the task ahead.

Our goal has been to furnish a record of your college life and to provide a means of keeping alive pleasant memories in future years.

We have striven throughout the book to present to you Lycoming College as you have lived it during the past year. This was accomplished by retaining the photo montage pages with a slight variation, including a special section entitled Student Life.

We feel that the emphasis on candid shots is the best way of presenting to you the essence of college life and activities.

Because there is a touch of sentimentality in even the most practical of us, we feel confident that everyone will cherish this book and peruse it many times in the years to come.

Lycoming Courier

When deadline time approached the Courier office was full of activity as the staff worked hard to get the copy ready for the next issue of the campus bi-weekly newspaper. Thanks to their efforts thirteen issues of the paper were published.

Shirley Williams and Shallimar Sholley served as co editors, while Joseph Wool was an able business manager of the Courier.

The Courier, in its fourth year of publication, succeeds the literary magazine The Dickinson Union which was established on the campus in 1898 when Lycoming College was known as Dickinson Seminary.

Concentrating on campus news and activities, the Courier presented many features on special activities and on various campus personalities, thorough coverage of extra curricular activities, and editorial comments on campus problems and difficulties.

Dr. Eric V. Sandin, professor of English, advised the editorial staff, and Robert G. Wharton, college business manager, supervised the business staff.

Theta Pi Pi

The Theta Pi Pi Fraternity, established in 1896, has the distinction of being the oldest fraternal organization on the campus of Lycoming College.

Founded upon the principles of cooperation and brotherly love, Theta Pi Pi has endured through the years of the Seminary, Dickinson Junior College, and now under the four year system of Lycoming College, as one of the leaders among college organizations in the East.

The Alpha Chapter at Lycoming is the only remaining chapter of five still to use the name Theta Pi Pi. Since its inception more than 3,000 Theta's have been joined in brotherhood. This number includes such men as Robert F. Rich, Harry Stenger, Robert Wharton, and T. Sherman Stanford, who have contributed in furthering the fraternity's cause.

The varied social activities of the Theta's included pledge parties, holiday parties, fraternity get-togethers, and the annual Christmas and Spring banquets.

The fraternity elected the following officers: Paul Sabin, president; Earl Mensch, secretary; Scott Wilhelm, treasurer; Jack Deitz, chaplain; Merle Davis, sergeant at arms; and George Lee Baer, faculty adviser.

Zeta Delta Kappa

The Zeta Delta Kappa fraternity was organized in the Spring of 1947 as the result of the work of its eight charter members and its faculty adviser, John P. Graham. The founders chose knowledge, constancy, and brotherly love as the fraternity principles.

Yats Esool Day, which the fraternity originated to arouse school spirit, has now become a tradition at Lycoming College. This event takes place on Homecoming Day.

The Christmas season was highlighted by the Zeta Delta Kappa's third Christmas dance. Other social events included the Annual Founder's Day Banquet and the Spring Prom.

The officers for 1950-51, were: Joseph Wool, president, Gordon Allison, first vice president; David Shortess, second vice president; Craig Kane, secretary; Jack Snyder, treasurer.

Lambda Phi Delta

Organized primarily as a social fraternity in February, 1948, the Lambda Phi Delta aims for the development of mental, social, physical, and spiritual brotherhood among its members.

An alumni bulletin, LAM-Phi-DEL, was published for the first time during the summer of 1950, to bring a closer relationship between the active members and the alumni.

Listed on Lambda Phi Delta's honorary member roll are the following men: William S. Hoffman, Dean of Lycoming College; Dr. Eric V. Sandin, divisional director of humanities; James W. Shaffer, instructor in music; and T. Sherman Stanford, principal of Ridgeway High School, Ridgeway, Pennsylvania.

The officers for the 1950-51 term were: Ralph Weaver, president; Bruce Benson, vice president; Barton Kramer, secretary; Robert Bump, treasurer; Mardell Wagner, sergeant-at-arms; Emerson Abram, chaplain; and Herman McEadden, corresponding secretary.

Second Row: Sowers, Borowski, Brodmerkel, Patton, Crane, Robbins.
Third Row: Dotts, Kurtz, Slingerland, Dingle, Rolfe, Bullock, Marx.*

Zeta Tau Beta

The Zeta Tau Beta fraternity, the only business fraternity on the campus, was organized in May 1948, at Lycoming College. The aim of the fraternity is success through cooperation. The officers for the year were: John B. Huffert, president; Elmer Peake, vice president; Charles McFadden, Jr., secretary; and Leroy G. Edwards, Jr., treasurer.

The adviser of the organization was John W. Streeter, assistant professor of economics, while C. H. Picht, college chaplain, acted as chaplain for the year.

Honorary members of the fraternity included: Leo C. Williamson, C. H. Picht, H. L. Hinkleman, Robert G. Wharton, Jr., Leroy Edwards, Jr., and Spencer Hill.

During the past year, the Fraternity sponsored the Third Annual Harvest Ball and redecorated their fraternity room.

Chi Rho Pi

Chi Rho Pi Fraternity succeeded in getting a fraternity room this year, and much of its efforts and resources have gone into the furnishing and painting of the new meeting and social room.

The international situation has made a very strong and lasting impression on the members of this fraternity. Nearly all of its members are veterans of World War II and are conscious of and sympathetic with the efforts and contributions being made on all fronts to secure peaceful settlements of current conflicts. Chi Rho Pi has made a contribution of several of its brothers to the armed forces and undoubtedly will see more of them go into service during the coming year.

The social activities of this fraternity have been kept to a minimum this year. Chi Rho Pi is being governed by a newly adopted constitution, and the process of reorganization has been completed.

Officers elected for the 1950-51 term include: Robert Eaker, president; Samuel McDonald, vice president; Richard Kline, secretary; and George Wills, treasurer.

Standing: Picht, Picht, Milnor, Levegood.*

Alpha Psi Omega

The fall of 1950 saw the transfer of charter in the dramatic fraternity from Delta Psi Omega, the fraternity for junior colleges, to the Alpha chapter, the fraternity for four year colleges.

This fraternity is the largest honor society in college dramas in the country. It boasts a membership of over two hundred chapters with national headquarters located in Fairmont, West Virginia.

The aims of the fraternity are to stimulate interest in dramatic activities, to secure for the college all the advantages of a large national honorary fraternity, and by electing worthy students to membership, serve as a reward for their efforts in participating in the plays staged by the Lycoming College Players.

Lycoming's cast is comprised of seventeen members including some faculty and alumni. The alumni are Richard Hinkelman, Marjorie Bender, Elmer Koons, Albert Mortimer, Robert Griggs, and Richard Wolf. The faculty members include Dr. and Mrs. Picht, Mrs. Milnor and Mr. Dorey.

Standing: Bains, Condon, Lazzari, Cartoon, Morey, Scott.*

Beta Kappa Upsilon

Fulfilling the great demand for a new social fraternity, sixteen men established the Beta Kappa Upsilon in March, 1950. They chose Dr. Loring B. Priest as faculty adviser and made loyalty and integrity to Lycoming College their fraternal goal.

The fraternity brothers were granted the use of a room in Bradley Hall which they re-decorated into an attractive meeting place. There they held their weekly meetings and their fraternity parties.

Officers, who helped to make the new club a success, were: Larry Barletta, president; John Stewart, vice president; Jerry Gottlieb, secretary; and Robert McKernan, treasurer.

Eager participation in campus activities was shown by their entrance in the Homecoming Queen Contest, with Miss Ruth Fairstein as Beta Kappa Upsilon's candidate. Their willingness to be of service to the community was proved by their work in the Community Chest Drive.

CLUBS

Dramatic Club

The Lycoming College Players opened the curtains of a new year with their fall production of Philip Barry's, The Youngest, under the direction of the faculty adviser, J. Milnor Dorey. Those included in the cast were: Frances Gleason, Jean Davies, Teresa Sullivan, Rudy Carrington, Mary Gates, James Kerrigan, Elmer Koons, Lucille Smead, and Richard Wolf. Jay House acted as stage manager.

The Christmas program, The Pageant of the Holy Nativity, was produced with great success. The club combined with the Williamsport Civic Choir and was directed by Walter G. Melver, associate professor of voice. Frances Toohey was in charge of student direction.

Officers of the Lycoming College Players were: William Levegood, president; Jay House, vice president; Frances Toohey, secretary; and Jean Davies, treasurer.

Language Club

A new organization on campus is the Foreign Language Club. This club consists of students studying French, German, Spanish, and Greek. Previously, there had been a club to represent each language, with the exception of Greek which was just added to the curriculum this year. However, the smaller groups decided to unite into one large organization.

Every language department was represented by an officer. Those elected for the 1950-51 term included: Harvey Hartman, president; Lee Pannebaker, vice president; Margaret Corson, secretary; and Jean Davies, treasurer.

Advisers to the Foreign Language Club were: Dr. Herbert E. Ketcham, associate professor of foreign languages; Mr. Phil Gillette, associate professor of German; Mr. Roger Cogswell, instructor in French, and Miss Gloria Rebecchi, instructor in Spanish and French.

Before the Christmas holidays, members of the Foreign Language Club participated in a musical program in one of the chapel periods. The program consisted of solos, the Lord's Prayer in Greek, and selections for all voices.

International Relations Club

With the present difficult world situation, the International Relations Club found new and challenging topics to explore in their round-table discussions. Guest speakers and panel discussions on current international problems gave rise to a stimulating exchange of ideas among the members.

Again, Dr. Mary Elizabeth Stewart, assistant professor of history, was chosen as adviser to the club, and the following officers were elected: Matthew Cendoma, president; Joseph Orso, vice president; Richard Kline, secretary; and George Shortess, treasurer.

In February, the club toured the United Nations in New York City and attended sessions of the Security Council. The Spring banquet was held in April at the Village Tea Room.

Their continuation as an organization which seeks better understanding among all peoples made the International Relations Club a vital thinking force within the school.

Psychology Club

The purpose of the Psychology Club is to bring psychology students together to develop their common interests more fully.

This club was organized in September, 1948. Since then, many educational and entertaining programs, taken from various sources, were held. Guest speakers, movies, discussions, and field trips were among the activities of the club. These contributed greatly to the knowledge of psychology by illustrating the application of the subject matter in all phases of life.

Officers chosen for the 1950-51 term included Oliver Helmrich, president; William Troxell, vice president; Ellen Totten, secretary; and Judy Cohen, treasurer. Oliver L. Harris, associate professor of psychology, acted as adviser to the club.

Canterbury Club

Now in its fourth year at Lycoming College, the Canterbury Club has retained its popularity as a social organization for the student members of the Episcopal Church. The Sunday evening meetings at Christ Episcopal Church provided pleasant hours of fellowship for students and church members.

Student officers serving for the second consecutive year were: Donald Adams, president; Marilyn Simmons, secretary; and Sam McDonald, treasurer. The Reverend L. O. Diplor, rector of Christ Church parish, served as the clergy adviser, and Dr. and Mrs. Eric V. Sandin were faculty advisers.

The club held a dance in December at the Christ Church Parish House. Later in the same month the club members were guests at a dinner given by the church congregation. Their Spring activities included a skating party and a hamburg roast.

Lutheran Students Association

The Lutheran Students Association was organized to give Lutheran students on the campus a common interest in their religious activities. The Rev. Robert E. Neumeyer, Pastor Bob, as he is known to members, was the clergy adviser.

The local group is affiliated with the Lutheran Students Association of America, a division of student service of the National Lutheran Council. Student delegates represented the local LSA at the regional conventions of this association.

Semi-monthly meetings were held in the parish house of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Williamsport. The programs consisted of various social activities, outside speakers, and religious discussions.

Officers for the year were: Gervydas Simaitis, president; Ann Maloney, vice president; Betsy Sweinhart, secretary; and Jane Danecker, treasurer.

Hillar Leetma, a displaced person from Estonia, was brought to the campus to continue his education beginning with the fall semester. He was sponsored by the local Lutheran Students Association through cooperation with the Lutheran World Action.

 Third Row: Tisenman, Buterbaugh, Clark, Gold, Myers, Shortess.
 Fourth Row: Hoover, Bonham, Metzger, Plyler, Jennings.
 Fifth Row: Cavanaugh, Wellbank, Brooks, Kramer, Parsons, Norman.*

John Wesley Club

The purpose of the John Wesley Club, organized in September, 1927, is to join its members in a oneness of fellowship in Christ, to help each member prepare for future work, and to be a Christian influence to fellow students.

Regular meetings were held on the second and fourth Thursday of each month. A short worship service, conducted by a student member, was followed by a message from a guest speaker. Special activities of the club included student pastoral work and a Christmas banquet.

The adviser and counselor of the John Wesley Club was the Reverend Clair J. Switzer, professor of religion. The officers of the club were: David Shortess, president; William Alberts, first vice president; Ben Gaul, second vice president; Mahlon Hurlbert, secretary; and Thomas Subock, treasurer. Honorary members included Dr. John W. Long and the Reverend Henry Shissler.

Third Row: Fetterman, Palmer, Kramer, Lieuallen, Giles, Williams, Winstead, Moore, Greenfieldt, Buterbaugh, Allen, O'Neill.

Student Christian Association

Promotion of the Christian way of life is the purpose of the Student Christian Association. To every student, it offers the opportunity to enjoy Christian fellowship and to apply the Christian teachings to daily life.

The S. C. A. was under the leadership of John O'Neill, acting president, assisted by Jean Davies, secretary, and Bart Kramer, treasurer. Dr. C. Herbert Picht, college chaplain, was adviser.

Many special projects were planned throughout the year. A group of upper classmen returned to the campus during Freshman Orientation Week to arrange an "Ice Breaker" party for the new students, an annual custom begun in the fall of 1949. Evening Vesper services which featured student panels, speakers, and special holiday programs were held the first and third Thursday of each month on campus.

To aid in obtaining funds for the World Student Service Fund, the S. C. A. sponsored "Sadie Hawkins Day" in November. In February, the S. C. A. played a very active part in preparing for, and participating in, Religion In Life Week.

Catholic Club

The Catholic Club was formed this year. Its main purpose was to better inform the Catholic students on campus about their religious beliefs and traditions.

The club held various social activities at St. Boniface School during each monthly meeting. For the edification of those of Catholic faith, a communion breakfast was held at the St. Boniface Church each month.

John Stewart served as president of the group; Joan O'Brian filled the position of vice president, and Donald McKernan acted as secretary treasurer.

Methodist Student Movement

Organized last fall, the Methodist Student Movement strove to promote fellowship among the Methodist students of the campus and to provide them with a denominational program which ties in the Pennsylvania Methodist Students Movement organization.

The MSM, which met each Sunday evening at the Pine Street Methodist Church, sponsored various religious programs. Their weekly services included worship, recreation, and refreshments. Under its social activities, the MSM sponsored programs of folk games, square dancing, caroling, and tobogganing.

Mardell Wagner served as president of the organization, Earl Cavanaugh as vice president, and Virginia Giles as secretary treasurer.

Several of the members attended the second annual Eastern Pennsylvania Methodist Student Movement Conference, held in the fall at Cowan, Pennsylvania. A larger delegation attended the annual Pennsylvania MSM Conference, held after the Easter vacation, at Indiana State Teachers College.

Varsity Club

The Varsity "L" Club, in its second year of operation, increased the membership to thirty-five, in order to continue sports promotion drives on the college campus.

Throughout the year the "L" men were active in campus activities. During football season, club members contributed their time by selling programs and operating a refreshment stand. At basketball season, the Varsity Club published its own program for all home games, and sponsored free dances after games in the effort to promote better school spirit.

Club officers elected to serve for the year were: Donald Hamm, president; John Scott, vice president; James Brodmerkel, secretary; George Neal, treasurer; Merel Davis, chaplain; and George Bellak, corresponding secretary.

The Varsity Club, through its activities, was able to secure athletic jackets for all eligible men, but the highlight of the year was the annual banquet held in the spring, at which time all graduating seniors received gold awards for their athletic achievements.

Women's Athletic Association

The Women's Athletic Association enthusiastically began its fall program with baseball, badminton, bowling, basketball, and swimming. A field hockey team was organized for the first time, and in November hockey players were entered in a Sports Day at Bucknell University. Early in February the W. A. A. sent a basketball team to compete at Bucknell in additional sports contests. Later the same month a Sports Day was held at the Pennsylvania State College, with Lycoming sending contestants to compete in many events. There were participants from Bucknell University, Pennsylvania State College, and Juniata College who attended a similar sports program at Lycoming College in March.

Intramural competition was extensive and well organized, and the W. A. A. members were chosen by the point system for letters and awards. Mrs. Donald J. Felix, instructor in physical education, continued as adviser of the association. The following new officers were elected: Marjorie Mitchell, president; Eleanor Miller, vice president; Marilyn Simmons, secretary; Jacqueline Sullivan, treasurer; Virginia Totten, social chairman; and Margaret Derone, publicity chairman.

Lycoming A Cappella Choir

The A Cappella Choir directed by Walter G. McIver, assistant professor of voice, rated high among the student organizations which attracted new members. Individual auditions, with members from the previous year also competing, resulted in the selection of forty five voices.

Student officers chosen from within the group were: Jay House, student manager; Lois Derr, student director; Shallimar Sholley, historian; and Nancy Hall, publicity director.

The first public appearance of the choir, made at the Pennsylvania Week Celebration in Williamsport only two weeks after completion of the choir personnel, prompted special words of commendation for its stirring presentation of patriotic songs.

Christmas music on campus, in the form of a cantata, was sung by the College Choir, of which the A Cappella Choir formed a nucleus. The College Choir presented "When The Christ Child Came," a modern musical fantasy by Joseph Clokey, telling the Christmas story in a new, inspiring musical idiom. The College Choir included members of the faculty, administration, and students when it presented Handel's "The Messiah" in a traditional performance for the enjoyment of the local community.

The A Cappella Choir began preparation in the Fall for its Spring concert appearances, developing a larger repertoire than in former years. Travels were expanded over a larger area and included a tour throughout Pennsylvania and neighboring states. Programs were planned to include sixteenth century chorales, modern folk melodies, Negro Spirituals, and familiar hymns. Unique interpretations and rich choral blendings won natural acclaim from audiences, and placed the A Cappella Choir permanently among the best productions of the college.

Lycoming Singers

Twenty voices from the A Cappella Choir were chosen to form a singing group which would complement the work of the larger organization. With Jay Stenger and Nancy Hall as student accompanists, the Lycoming Singers did music aside from the regular a cappella work, using piano and organ.

The college utilized this choral group extensively in its promotion program, offering their superb musical craftsmanship as a successful example of the school. The Singers visited high schools, colleges, and churches throughout the state, showing their wide appeal by being greeted enthusiastically by many different types of audiences. They made special radio broadcasts and recordings, and participated in various civic programs. Their repertoire included instrumental selections played by members of the group. Walter G. McIver, director of the Lycoming Singers, developed them into a highly polished choral ensemble which proved to be a real asset to the college because of their enjoyable singing and versatile performances.

Men's Glee Club

For the first time in several years, there was an enthusiastic demand on campus for an all male singing organization. The Men's Glee Club made its debut Homecoming Week end, when it appeared between halves of the Wilkes-Lycoming football game to serenade the Homecoming Queen. Dressed uniformly in blue and white, the men made an attractive ensemble as they sang and participated in drill formations with the band. They performed at other games throughout the season, presenting interesting arrangements of school songs and old favorites.

Four officers were elected by the new club: Brian Fetterman, president; Jay Stenger, vice president; William Zwick, treasurer; and Mardell Wagner, librarian.

Recordings, radio appearances, chapel programs, and engagements at community organizations kept the Men's Glee Club active throughout the school year, and set a musical goal which it will be difficult for future clubs to equal.

College Band

The College Band remained an active organization this year, after beginning a year ago. The band included about twenty-five members of both men and women.

Throughout the year the band played at many sports events and other programs. During football season the band acted as a uniformed marching unit, performing at all home games and at two of the away games. A small group of members formed what could be called a German Band and played for all home games of the Warriors on the basketball court of the college gymnasium.

Several members of the band were selected to represent Lycoming College at the Annual Intercollegiate Band Festival which met at Lehigh University in March.

The officers of the musical organization were Gene Brong, president, and Glenn Miers, secretary treasurer. The faculty director of the band was James W. Sheaffer, instructor in music.

Football In Retrospect

To its devotees, football guarantees nothing except hard work and hard knocks. This fact was evidenced by Lycoming's gridiron squad this past season. Although possessing able coaches and an ardent will to win, the football Warriors were defeated in seven of their eight contests; moreover, they were held scoreless in six of these. Lycoming simply did not have the manpower to compete successfully against the high caliber teams which graced their schedule. But, despite the near impossibility of their task, the Warrior eleven never stopped trying. In no game did they quit. It is to the gallant team and a fine coaching staff that we extend our heartiest congratulations.

SUSQUEHANNA, 27 - LYCOMING, 0

Susquehanna spoiled Vince Clemente's debut as head coach at Lycoming by defeating the Warriors, 27-0.

The Warriors battled their hosts on even terms throughout the first half, with neither team threatening seriously. But in the second half the Crusaders began to roll.

They scored in the third period, and then turned the game into a rout with three touchdowns in the final quarter.

WASHINGTON, 32 - LYCOMING, 0

The Warrior eleven, opening their home gridiron campaign, lost a 32-0 decision to the talented gridgers from Washington College, Maryland.

Displaying a powerful ground attack, the visitors tallied in each of the first three quarters; the 19 point third period insured the victory.

Lycoming penetrated to the Washington five yard line late in the final quarter, but the game's end dissipated the threat.

KING'S, 31 - LYCOMING, 0

An air minded King's College team handed the Lycoming gridders their third defeat of the season; the score: 31-0.

Inability to cope with King's vaunted aerial attack proved costly to the Warriors, four of the Monarch's five tallies came as a direct result of passes. Neil West, King's stellar end, caused the most trouble by catching three touchdown aerals.

Lycoming's only sustained drive faltered six yards short of payoff territory.

MANSFIELD, 40 — LYCOMING, 0

Overwhelmed in all departments, Lycoming lost its fourth game, 40-0, to Mansfield State Teachers College. It was Mansfield's first victory.

Again, it was a weak pass defense that led to the Warriors' downfall; every Mountaineer scoring drive was sparked by passes. Conversely, Lycoming's aerial attack faltered badly as Mansfield intercepted seven Warrior tosses, two of them being converted into touchdowns by the Teachers.

WILKES, 26 — LYCOMING, 14

Returned home after two games on the road, Lycoming's gridgers played their best game to date in losing to the Wilkes College Colonels, 26-14, before a fair sized homecoming day crowd.

Scott Wilhelm ended the Warriors' scoring famine in the second quarter when he crashed over from the two-yard line to cap a 46 yard drive.

The Warriors trailed at half-time, 14-7.

Lycoming's final tally came in the closing minutes of play on a Johns to Wilhelm pass that covered 14 yards. Heilmann converted from placement after the touchdowns.

JUNIATA, 33 — LYCOMING, 0

In a game played in a driving rain storm, the Lycoming Warriors fell victim to a good Juniata College eleven, 33-0, at Juniata. However, the score does not give a true picture of the closeness of the contest.

Lycoming was Juniata's peer in all of the statistical departments, but lacked the Indians' scoring punch.

The Warriors' deepest penetration came in the third period when Bellak broke through center and raced 68 yards to the Juniata five-yard line; penalties stalled the drive.

THEIL, 61 — LYCOMING, 0

A powerful Theil College football team invaded the Lycoming gridiron and wound up their season undefeated by romping to a 61-0 victory over an outclassed Warrior eleven.

Featuring a devastating ground attack, the terrible Tomcats scored practically at will, tallying at least two touchdowns in each quarter.

Lycoming's offense was stymied completely by the big Theil line. Only once during the game were the Warriors able to drive past mid-field.

LYCOMING, 41 — NATIONAL AGGIES, 6

Stinging beneath seven successive defeats, Lycoming's football forces, rebounding with a vengeance, ended their gridiron campaign by pounding out a 41-6 victory over a bewildered National Agricultural College eleven. The victory halted a 10 game losing streak.

The Warriors, scoring in every quarter, wrapped up the contest in the final period with a 20 point splurge.

Hard-running Scott Wilhelm crossed the goal line three times to lead the six touchdown parade. Passes—Johns to Neal, Johns to Seidel, and Heilman to Blasi—accounted for the other three scores. Heilman split the uprights on five out of the six conversion attempts.

One of the Best!

Unheralded and unsung the 1950-51 edition of Lycoming's basketball brigade, pitted against the most formidable array of foes ever to face a Warrior quintet, proved to be the surprise of the year, winning 16 of 19 encounters to establish a new school record. All three defeats were absorbed in away games.

Operating under the critical eye of the master strategist, Bob Smith, the Warriors piled up eight consecutive victories before tasting defeat: a 60-58 overtime loss to Elizabethtown. However, the Smithmen gained revenge in the return game, walloping the Lizzies, 89 to 48.

With the close of the campaign, three Warriors: Jack Sowers, Jim Brodmerkel, and Stew Kane, ended their cage career at Lycoming. Sowers, whose 355 points were high for the season, pushed his point total to 1,016 for four years of college ball, another school record.

Stellar performers all, their shoes will, indeed, be difficult to fill.

To a truly fine team and their calculating commandant, we say, "Well done!"

Lycoming Baseball

The Spring of 1950 witnessed the inauguration of the diamond sport at Lycoming College. And in view of the obstacles which confronted Lycoming's initial baseball representatives, their records of three victories and eight defeats, though not imposing, is commendable.

Suffering from the usual first-year lack of depth and experience, the Warriors entered into competition against experienced, capable foes, many of whom enjoyed phenomenal seasons. Despite many discouraging defeats, the Warrior nine improved with each contest. Their crowning achievement was a 12-10, upset win over Susquehanna in the final game of the campaign.

If the gameness displayed by this Lycoming squad is indicative of things to come, surely, winning seasons are not too far beyond the baseball horizon.

Warrior Cheerleaders

Lycoming's cheerleading squad got off to an early start this year with last year's captain, Harry Canon, instructing the freshmen in Organized Voice 101. Marilyn Simmons, Dotty Wenger, and Margaret Mitchell returned in time for Lycoming's football opener at Susquehanna University.

Within the first month of the fall season, tryouts were held to replace those cheerleaders who had not returned. From a field of about fifty men and women Pat Moore, Bill Zwick, and Sherwood Carter were selected as the regulars, with Joan Baumunk and Cay Wardner on hand for substitutions.

Through the kind efforts of their adviser, Mrs. Helen Felix, and the athletic committee, the squad is now the proud possessor of new uniforms for the girls. The white sweaters are handsomely set off by the pleated navy blue skirts.

Elected by the squad as co-captains for the 1950-51 term were Marilyn Simmons and Harry Canon.

Intramurals

Increasing activity marked the intramural sports scene at Lycoming throughout the year. Under the direction of G. Lee Baer, Director of Physical Education, and Helen M. Felix, Instructor of Girls' Athletics, the intramural program was broadened extensively, not only in the number of students participating, but also in the number of sporting activities.

The most significant additions to the sports calendar were those of golf, swimming, and tennis, which were inaugurated on the campus this past Spring. Thus, another stride was taken towards the goal of encompassing all fields of athletic activities.

Also, primarily through the efforts of Mr. Baer, adequate awards were secured and presented to the team or individual champions of the separate sports. The most notable of these awards was the Donald J. Felix plaque, which was presented to the team winning the basketball championship. Donated by the Varsity Club, the plaque is to the memory of the late Dean of Men, Donald J. Felix, the originator of intramural basketball on the Lycoming campus.

LYCOMING COLLEGE

(Formerly Williamsport Dickinson Seminary and Junior College)

Lycoming College, founded in 1812, is a co-educational institution offering certain two-year terminal courses, a four year program in Liberal Arts leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree, and a four year course in Business Administration leading to the Bachelor of Science degree.

Facilities are provided for both day and boarding students, and the social, extra-curricular, and athletic life is planned for the enjoyment and development of every student.
